The Guild of Unani-Tibb Safeguarding Policy

Safeguarding The Patient, The Tradition and The Practitioner

(This TGU Safeguarding Policy should be read in conjunction with the TGU Code of Ethics and Practice.)

The TGU Code of Ethics and Practice and the TGU Safeguarding Policy have governance over all members; Students, Graduate Practitioners, Practitioners, Physicians, Hakims and Hakimas, Fellows and Custodians.

Accredited Teachers and Facilitators are also subject to the TGU Code of Ethics and Practice and the TGU Safeguarding Policy.

Further to the TGU Code of Ethics and Practice the TGU Safeguarding Policy would draw attention to the following points:

- Graduate Practitioners will practice under supervision for 12 months following their graduation.
- Permission to use the Guild abbreviation (TGU) is restricted to fully registered members as determined by payment of membership fees, qualifications and/or status verified by the Executive Committee.
- Qualifications and status must be verified and approved by the Executive Committee. Any claims to status/title without written approval will be without the support of the TGU.
- Any and all publicity or promotional material carrying the TGU abbreviation, logo or title must be approved by the TGU Executive Committee. The TGU accepts no responsibility for any publicity/ promotional materials, or any associated activities or consequences resulting thereof, that have not been previously approved of in writing.
- Similarly, the TGU accepts no responsibility for any promotional declaration or claim made regarding other or associated therapies or practises which have not been previously declared and verified by certificate of qualification and valid insurance to the TGU.
- To transgress the TGU Code of Ethics and Practice or the TGU Safeguarding Policy will result in immediate suspension of TGU membership and privileges pending an investigation by the Executive Committee.
